

TWO DAY NATIONAL SEMINAR ON

Electronic Information Resources: Boon for Libraries and Information centres

March 26 – 27, 2020

Organiser: Department of Library and Information Science, University of Kashmir, Srinagar (J&K)

*In collaboration with Indian Council of Social Science Research (ICSSR).

The electronic information resources are fast growing and gaining acceptance among faculty members, scholars and students as one of the best means towards facilitating access to qualitative educational resources for enriching modern teaching learning process. The availability of such resources provide new opportunities for libraries and information centers to redesign their services and activities for supporting more vibrant learning environment coupled with access to qualitative learning resources. This transition in the library settings has revolutionised whole society and much has been witnessed in resource description, access and delivery. New tools that have emerged over time are helping to gain better insights into the new unexplored areas of information consolidation and discovery that further improve library services enriching the modern education and research domains. The transition from conventional to the digital set-ups has brought the academic world to new edge where technology helped to have new channels of accessibility. The digital era in the libraries has set new trends of accessing the information and has also brought to light new services which are paving new ways for supporting teaching, learning and research in the academic world.

Keeping into consideration the perceived impact of electronic resources on the academic efficiency, the Department of Library and information Science, University of Kashmir, in collaboration with Indian Council of Social Science Research (ICSSR) is going to organize two day national seminar on “Electronic Resources: Boon for Library & Information Centres” on March 26-27, 2020.
